

5th Sunday of Lent

The Scripture of today's Mass speaks of how God is always compassionate to his people. In today's Gospel, when we see Jesus with the sinful woman, we are also seeing God. Jesus can be called the Sacrament of God among us. A sacrament in general is a visible manifestation of the power of God working among us. We might say there are two kinds of sinners in today's Gospel passage. First, there is the woman who was caught in the act of adultery, a very serious matter. But in this story, the Scribes and Pharisees are also sinners. Not in their own eyes, of course, but in the eyes of Jesus and his Gospel they are totally lacking in the compassion that God displays and which he expects his followers to have: "Be merciful as your Father in heaven is merciful."

The woman in this story is not just an isolated sinner. She represents all of us. She represents every person who has sinned. She represents you and me. And the Scribes and Pharisees, who were sinners too, also represent you and me. We sin in both ways: when we hurt others by indulging our desires at their expense and when we hurt others by setting ourselves up as superior and better than they.

Now let us look at Jesus in this scene. First of all, Jesus does not deny the woman's sin. The woman has been dragged before Jesus as a pawn in a game. The game is one of entrapment. "Moses ordered us in the Law to condemn women like this to death by stoning. What have you to say?" Jesus at first ignores their question, which reveals how far they are from understanding what he has been teaching and doing. He bends down and writes with his finger on the sandy ground. There has been much speculation about what he might have been writing but it seems to be a way of refusing to walk into their all too obvious trap. When they persist, he says: "If there is one of you who has not sinned, let him be the first to throw a stone at her." To their credit, not one of them took up the challenge. One by one, beginning from the most senior, they slipped quietly out of his sight. This is the first teaching of today's Gospel: only one without sin can sit in judgment on another person. To put it more colloquially: people in glass houses cannot throw stones. Yet, do we not do this all the time.

A Cursillo Weekend is taking place in May at the St Ignatius Deemerton Retreat Centre near Mildmay. (Transportation to the Centre is provided.) We all know God but how many of us truly know God on a personal and intimate level? A 3 day Cursillo weekend is a short review of Christianity. Beginning on a Thursday evening and ending early Sunday evening, through a series of talks by lay people and clergy, and the sacraments, and take a closer look at yourself, God, and others. It is our hope and prayer that you come away with the profound knowledge that Christ loves you, and that you can't help but share that love with others. If you are over 18 years old, and open to a closer relationship with God. During Lent Dr. Simone is asking that we donate bars of soap. When we give a bar of soap to the poor, we prevent skin and lung infections, and diarrhea, we also stop flies from going into the eyes of the poor children. When the poor are clean, they have dignity and self-respect. Baskets will be made available at the church entrances until April 14th for donations of bars of soap for Dr. Simone's poor. We appreciate the generosity of our St. Teresa parishioners!
